THE SAGE AND SOCIETY: The Life and Thought of Ho Hsin-Yin by Ronald G. Dimberg. SACP Monograph no. 1. $4.75. Paper.

This excellent study reevaluates Ho's somewhat disregarded philosophy and social reforms. In mid-16th century Ming China confusion and rapid cultural change were occurring, and Ho's fidelity to the Confucian traditions was questioned. His thinking, although within the bounds of Confucian social and moral philosophy, had an unorthodox emphasis on the individual. He substantially altered the Confucian value system.

STUDIES IN COMPARATIVE AESTHETICS by Eliot Deutsch. SACP Monograph no. 2. $3.50. Paper. 3 halftones.

Here three topics related to the thought and experience of an Asian culture are lucidly discussed: classical Indian theory of rasa; the Japanese rock garden of Ryōanji and the concept of yūgen; and a comparison of China's Ma Yüan with Pieter Bruegel.
